

- (c) Under high pressure in the cylinder propane is a liquid.
Liquid propane evaporates easily to form a gas when the tap on the cylinder is opened.

Draw a ring around the correct answer in each box to explain why propane evaporates easily.

Propane has a high low

 boiling point because it consists of large small molecules.

(1)

(Total 4 marks)